COURSE OBJECTIVE/LEARNING OUTCOMES

The objective of this course is to introduce students to classical sociological theory. After completing this course, students will be familiar with key texts of classical sociological theorists who traditionally have been included in, and excluded from, the sociology canon. Students will understand central problems in sociological theory and the ways in which classical sociological theorists grappled with these problems. They will have experience reading excerpts from texts written by classical sociological theorists and publications about these theorists written by their successors, including contemporary sociologists.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course offers an historical reconstruction of sociological theory from its nineteenth-century origins to World War II. It focuses on the works of Karl Marx, Emile Durkheim, Max Weber, and Talcott Parsons. It introduces the main ideas of the theories and situates them in their social and intellectual contexts. It moves beyond description to analysis by examining alternative solutions to three central problems in sociological theory: (1) agency, (2) method, and (3) change. It concludes by bringing in Charlotte Perkins Gilman to explore the current debate on canonicity in sociology.

All examinations will be cumulative. Examinations will cover material that is presented in the lectures and required readings.

Handing in Papers, Assignments

1. The main Sociology Department office does not deal with any course-related matters. Please speak directly to your instructor.
2. Protection of Privacy: The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIPP) legislation does not allow students to retrieve any course material from public places. Anything that requires handing back will be returned directly during class or office hours. If students are unable to pick up their assignments from the instructor, they provide the instructor with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to be used for the return of the assignment.
3. Final grades are not posted by the Sociology Department. They are only available online.

Ethics Research

Students are advised that any research with human subjects – including any interviewing (even with friends and family), opinion polling, or unobtrusive observation – must have the approval of the Faculty Ethics Committee. In completing course requirements, students must not undertake any human subjects research without discussing their plans with the instructor, to determine if ethics approval is required.

Academic Misconduct

Please refer to the website listed below for information on University of Calgary policies on Plagiarism/Cheating/Other Academic Misconduct:

Deferrals

When possible, please provide advance notice if you are unable to write an exam or complete/turn-in assignments on time. All requests for deferral of a course component due to health reasons must be accompanied by written documentation as outlined in the University Calendar and should be obtained while the student has the health issue rather than after recovery. Deferrals will be allowed in the following circumstances: illness, domestic affliction or religious conviction. Travel arrangements, misreading the syllabus, and scheduling conflicts with other classes or employment are not valid reasons for requesting a deferral. Deferrals will not be granted if it is determined that just cause is not shown by the student.

If you have missed a test for a legitimate reason, the percentage weight of a missed examination will be transferred to the other course components, upon receipt of written documentation as outlined in the University Calendar. NOTE: There are no “make up” tests for Examination One or Examination Two.

Deferred Final Exam Form: Please note that requests to defer a Registrar scheduled final exam are dealt with through the Registrar’s Office. Further information about deadlines, and where paperwork should be taken, is available on the form, which can be found at: <https://www.ucalgary.ca/registrar/student-forms>

Deferred Term Work Form: Deferral of term work past the end of a term also requires a form to be filled out. It’s available at https://www.ucalgary.ca/registrar/files/registrar/deferred_termwork15_0.pdf

Once an extension date has been agreed between instructor and student, the form should be taken to the Faculty of Arts Program Information Centre (SS 110) for approval by an Associate Dean (Students).
