

Only Sociology Can Save Us From Ourselves

Jyoti Gondek

Ward 3 Councillor
City of Calgary

Our contemporary times are a clear indication that polarized world views will push us into a downward spiral of despair if we don't take the reins as sociologists and put the focus back where it belongs: how do we create a sustainable civil society that collaborates with business and government? Our global future requires sociologists to become more applied in the practice of their craft. Ward 3 Councillor Jyoti Gondek will engage with participants in this session to share her experiences, as well as gain their insights on how to elevate the reputation of our discipline through collective, organized action.

Wednesday Nov. 7th, 2018 @ 3:00 PM
Sociology Department, Room SS 921
University of Calgary