Sociology is a broad discipline comprising an enormous variety of theories, methods, and studies that address a level of human experience is different from that addressed by other sciences. Sociology is unique in its consistent emphasis on a distinct level of reality—the social—to account for personal experience as well as the experience of groups of persons, from couples (at the “micro” level of sociological work) to nations (at the “macro” level), acting in concert. Sociology also concerns, in the first place, the existence, definition, and the availability for study of this thing called “society,” and it is with this core theoretical issue that this course begins.

We will not be able to uncover the entire field of sociology in this course. My agenda is to expose as much as possible, and especially to apprise everyone of the uniqueness of sociology as a discipline among the social sciences, and of the usefulness of sociology in understanding the place of social forces in determining and understanding individual, group-based, and collective behaviour.

Required Text:

Macionis J and L Gerber. 2008. Sociology. Sixth Canadian Edition. Toronto: Pearson Education Canada. Do not purchase earlier editions!

The powerpoint slides for all of my lectures is available on my course website. You can follow the links to the "201" folder, or click on the direct URL for the PPT directory: https://webdisk.ucalgary.ca/~jmanzo/public_html/lectures/201/. The files are labelled in ways that should make it clear which files attach to which sections in the course outline, but I will try to clarify this where necessary.

Course Requirements:

There are three tutorials to which students in 201.01 have been assigned, and I must regrettably announce that these will not take place in this section. The reason for this is that a "tutorial" is intended to provide a more intensive, small-group venue for students to address course-related concepts in detail. Unfortunately, as tutorials have grown to unmanageably large sizes for this course (with more than 130 students per section), the important function of tutorials has become impossible to fulfill. Therefore, tutorials do NOT meet in my sections of Soc 201.

There are three formal grade components, as follows:

1. Two in-class tests will respectively constitute 30% and 30% of your final grade. The tests will consist of 20 multiple choice items and two short essays. The tests will take place in class, in our regular lecture location. The first test will take place on Tuesday February 26 and the second on Tuesday, April 1. Not less than five days before the midterms and final exam, I post a STUDY GUIDE to my course website concerning topics to be covered and comprising questions from which the essays will be drawn. Please start checking the course website at least a week before the tests for this study guide.

2. A final exam, with format similar to the term tests but cumulative with respect to topics covered, will be given at a date to be scheduled during the exam period. The final exam will also be worth 40% of your semester grade and will consist of 30 multiple choice questions and two short essays.

Grading Scale

Letter grades will be assigned based on the following scale:

A+	96-100
A	90-95
A-	85-89
B+	80-84
B	74-79
B-	70-73
C+	67-69
C	63-66
C-	60-62
D+	57-59
D	53-56
D-	50-52
F	0-49

Exam Policies: I do not allow deferred first tests; if you miss the first test, the weight of that test is simply applied to your second test. In the case of your missing test 2 or the final exam, you must provide advance notice to Professor Manzo if you are unable to take either exam. In the case of test 2 or the final, deferred exams may be allowed in the following circumstances: illness, domestic affliction or religious conviction. If you have missed an exam for a legitimate reason, you will be able to write a "make up" exam as close to the original exam as possible, or to have the test waived and the weight of the missed test be added to that of the final exam if Professor Manzo and the student agree to this option. The date and location of make-up tests will be at the convenience of the Sociology Department. Travel arrangements and misreading of the syllabus are not valid reasons for requesting a deferred exam. Deferred exams will not be granted if it is determined that just cause is not shown by the student.

Research Ethics : Students are advised that any research with human subjects--including any interviewing (even with friends and family), opinion polling, or unobtrusive observation--must have the approval of the Departmental Ethics Committee. In completing course requirements, students must not undertake any human subjects research without discussing their plans with the instructor, to determine if ethics approval is required.

Academic Misconduct: cheating is regarded as a serious academic offense. Students are advised to consult the University Calendar, which presents a Statement of Intellectual Honesty and definitions and penalties associated with cheating, plagiarism, and other academic misconduct.

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) legislation disallows the practice of having students retrieve assignments from a public place, e.g., outside an instructor's office or the Department main office. Term assignments must be returned to students individually, during class, or during the instructor's office hours; if a student is unable to pick up her/his assignment s/he may provide the instructor with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to be used for the return of the assignment.

Safewalk: The University of Calgary provides a "safe walk" service to any location on Campus, including the LRT, parking lots, bus zones, and campus housing. For Campus Security/Safewalk call 220-5333. Campus Security can also be contacted from any of the "Help" phones located around Campus.

Academic Accommodation

Students with a disability, who require academic accommodation, need to register with the Disability Resource Centre (MC 295, telephone 403-220-8237). Academic accommodation letters need to be provided to course instructors no later than fourteen (14) days after the first day of class. It is a student's responsibility to register with the Disability Resource Centre and to request academic accommodation, if required.

Handing in Papers Outside of Class, Return of Final Papers, and Release of Final Grades

1. When students are unable to submit papers at class, they should make arrangements to hand in their papers directly to the instructor or teaching assistant rather than at the Sociology Department main office.
2. Final papers will not be returned through the Sociology Department main office. The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) legislation disallows the practice of having students retrieve assignments from a public place, (i.e., outside an instructor's office, the department office, etc.). Students who want their final papers returned by mail must attach a stamped, self-addressed envelope with the paper. Otherwise final papers will only be available for pick-up during the instructor's office hours at the end of this term or the beginning of the next term.
3. Final grades are not posted by the Sociology department. They are only available online.

Note on Course Outline:

You will note that I have organized this course to encompass seventeen topics, or modules. I have not assigned dates to these, because I can never be certain that I will cover all of a topic on a particular date, or if/when I may have to be absent. Generally, I will cover one topic per lecture, but instead of attaching a date to each, I simply refer to them as "sections." All chapter references are to the text.
