Course Description

Why do members of society behave the way they do? Are we simply creatures of rational choice? Do our biological and psychological compositions largely dictate our actions? How does society affect our behaviour? What is sociology and how does it aid us in explaining human behaviour? We will explore these questions through lecture material and discussions on the D2L discussion forum. As I expect students to be active producers rather than passive consumers of ideas, there will be time to analyze and discuss these issues online. Upon successful completion of Introduction to Sociology, students will be able to think critically about social issues and events, demonstrate familiarity with key concepts in the discipline, and display a practical ability to apply major theoretical perspectives to social processes.

Course Objectives/Learning Outcomes

Students in Introduction to Sociology should concentrate on how to:

1. Outline the five general sociological perspectives (functionalism, conflict theory, symbolic interactionism, feminisms, and post-structuralism), and apply them to social interactions and structures.
2. Differentiate between micro-level, macro-level, and global-level sociological approaches.
3. Explain the epistemological bases of different types of sociological knowledge and the basic methods used to generate knowledge.
4. Outline the most prominent explanations on how socialization and culture form our social selves.
5. Explain how social stratification, “race” and ethnicity, and sex and gender affect social opportunities.
6. Differentiate how the classic sociological thinkers approached religion in society.
7. Briefly outline the main sociological explanations influencing involvement in crime and deviance.
8. Identify the main ways in which urbanization, population, and the environment are changing our social world.
9. Assess the possibilities for inducing positive social change.

Course Format

Lectures for this course will be delivered via Desire2Learn (D2L). There will be PowerPoint slide shows with embedded video for students to consider. The class will be run with asynchronous involvement of students. In other words, there are no precise lecture times for students to attend. Rather, documents can be retrieved at any time. Of course, there are specific due dates for quizzes (see below).

Learning Resources

The following texts are recommended and available electronically for purchase:

Brym, R. J. (2017). New society (8th ed.). Toronto: Nelson.

Brym, R. J. (2014). Society in question (7th ed.). Toronto: Nelson.

Learning Technologies and Requirements

There is a D2L site for this course which contains required readings and other relevant class resources and materials (see d2l.ucalgary.ca). In order to successfully engage in their learning experiences at the University of Calgary, students taking online, remote, and blended courses are required to have reliable access to the following technology:

A computer with a supported operating system, as well as the latest security, and malware updates;

A current and updated web browser;

Webcam (built-in or external);

Microphone and speaker (built-in or external), or headset with microphone;

Current antivirus and/or firewall enabled;

Broadband Internet connection;

Students will be asked to consider news items on D2L from time to time. No other electronic resources will be used. Optional, but it is strongly recommended that this be provided to students.

Methods of Assessment and Grading Weights

There are five opportunities for students to capture their grades. Students will be expected to complete multiple choice and true-false quizzes on D2L. They will be based on online lecture material. All quizzes will begin at 8:00am on the following dates: January 25, February 10, March 10, March 31, and April 14.

Date	Percentage of Overall Grade
January 25	15
February 10	25
March 10	25
March 31	25
April 14	10

Students will have 120 minutes to complete the universally designed quizzes within a 24 hour window. In other words, the exams will be available for 24 hours starting at 8:00am on the dates identified above. I will be available electronically on the day of quizzes from 8:00am until 10:00am.

Quizzes are open book. That means you are free to review any documents that have been provided to you on D2L. Students are not allowed, however, to collaborate with other students in any way when completing quizzes. This includes voice, text, or chat etc. The use of collaboratively-authored study notes such as those generated or shared in chat groups or file sharing sites are not to be used when completing quizzes. The use of sources (online or otherwise) not provided by the instructor to create study notes to prepare for quizzes are not to be used. The use of online file sharing and tutoring sites should not be used to prepare for quizzes. Lastly, the use of online materials not provided by the instructor should not be used when completing quizzes. Violation of these policies may constitute academic misconduct, so please be careful and cautious when completing quizzes.

Absences and Deferrals

Students who miss quizzes should inform the instructor as soon as possible. If the reason for the absence is acceptable, then the instructor may decide that any arrangements made can take forms other than make-up quizzes. For example, the weight of a missed quiz may be added to another quiz.

Deferred Final Exam Form: Please note that requests to defer a Registrar scheduled final exam are dealt with through the Registrar's Office. Further information can be found at:

<https://www.ucalgary.ca/registrar/exams/deferred-exams>

Deferred Term Work Form: Deferral of term work past the end of a term requires a form to be filled out by the student and submitted, along with any supporting documentation, to the instructor. The form is available at:

<https://live-ucalgary.ucalgary.ca/sites/default/files/teams/14/deferral-of-term-work-2020.pdf>

Once an extension date has been agreed between instructor and student, the instructor will email the form to the Faculty of Arts Program Information Centre (ascarts@ucalgary.ca) for approval by the Associate Dean.

Grade Reappraisal

Within two weeks of the date the exam/assignment is returned, students seeking reappraisal of examinations or assignments must submit a written response to the instructor explaining the basis for reconsideration of one's mark. The instructor will reconsider the grade assigned and will then book a time with the student to discuss his or her work and rationale. It should be noted that a re-assessed grade may be raised, lowered, or remain the same.

Handing in Papers, Assignments

1. The main Sociology Department office does not deal with any course-related matters. Please speak directly to your instructor.
2. Protection of Privacy: The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIPP) legislation does not allow students to retrieve any course material from public places. Private information related to the individual student is treated with the utmost regard by the faculty at the University of Calgary
3. Final grades are not posted by the Sociology Department. They are only available online.
